

ASIS Early Years Programme

We focus on the CHILD

Collaboration

We are a network of world class schools. ASIS educators from all over the world collaborate routinely to share experiences and ideas, as well as attend our professional development sessions. This results in a continuous investment towards your child's learning and progress within our schools.

Holistic Education

We believe passionately in a holistic approach. Our inquiry-based programme focuses on working with young minds and driving them to be curious, think critically and creatively, solve problems and develop a passion and responsibility for their own learning.

Integrated Learning

ASIS Preschoolers do not learn through individual subjects. Our learners learn to draw knowledge and experience from one area of learning to another. We encourage our preschoolers to ask questions all the time, thus learning to link ideas, experiences and thoughts in their educational journey.

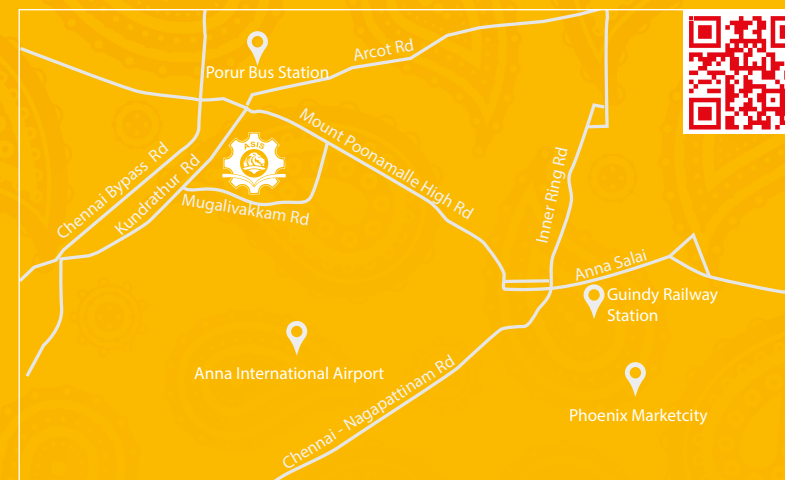

Language-rich Environments

We immerse our young learners in language-rich, multi-lingual environments. Through the course of our curriculum, our children learn English and other languages in a stimulating and fun manner.

Diversity

Our children are exposed to different local and international cultures, giving them a ready learning platform for sensitivity towards diversity. We also emphasize on the teaching of moral values and respect as well as tolerance in a very diverse world we live in.

ASIS Preschool

Research has shown that a child learns at an astounding rate from birth to age six. The first few years of a child's life are clearly important and will shape your child's future progress, health and development. What happens in early childhood, can matter for a lifetime.

Since 1996, we have been nurturing Preschoolers who have moved up seamlessly to our upper levels of schooling showing commendable traits of confidence, independence and a thirst for learning.

Reasons for our success

- A highly developed and tested Preschool pedagogy based on Singapore's Nurturing Early Learners (NEL) Framework. The NEL Framework looks at how children learn and activities are designed to focus on their development
- Experienced, supportive and passionate teachers
- Close partnership with parents

Our holistic curriculum focuses on

- Aesthetic and Creative Expressions
- Discovery of the World (Environmental Awareness)
- Language and Literacy
- Motor Skills Development
- Numeracy
- Social and Emotional Awareness

The SIS Group of Schools

The history of the SIS Group of Schools traces back to 1996 and is deeply rooted in the mission of its founder Jaspal Sidhu, which is to bring quality and affordable education to different income levels through world-class schools established in major cities around the world.

It was no surprise that the Founder turned to his home country, Singapore, renowned for its education system, for inspiration. To ensure a solid foundation to the start of the first SIS campus, the cooperation of the Founder's almamater, Raffles Institution (Singapore's premier school) was secured. Further encouraged by members of the Singapore Government, and senior members of the Ministry of Education back then, the first Singapore International School of the SIS Group was established in Indonesia, the fourth most populous country in the world.

Today, SIS is in a very prestigious partnership with the International Finance Corporation (World Bank) to expand across many geographies throughout the world.

The success of all SIS Schools comes from their focus on the three 'P's of a good school: People, Programme, and Place. Selectively hired and continuously developed teachers and non-teaching staff ensure that our 'People' create outstanding teaching and learning environments everywhere. The SIS 'Programmes' focus on the future of our learners, a future that is so unpredictable that the honing of skills and attitudes will remain centre to our pedagogy. And, finally, our 'Place'. All SIS campuses are known for their pleasant, green areas that allow meaningful connection and collaboration without crowding.

Our Facilities

Our Approach

The ASIS Preschool sees the individual child as the heart and centre of all our activities. Our low learner-to-teacher ratio allows our young people to achieve individualised, nurturing attention that gives them the ability to take confident steps towards their bright futures.

We understand that every aspect of the child's learning process must be recognised. Our approach to early childhood comes from some of the most modern, innovative and inspiring applications found globally.
